BUSY DAYS AT RED CROSS HEADQUARTERS.

The ladies of the Hartford Red Cross Chapter are very busy these days. The quota of this chapter is hospital shirts and they are being turned out as fast as they can knit them. The office is open on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons from one to six o'clock.

When we look over the record that these patriotic ladies have made, we cannot but feel proud of the Hartford Chapter. Time and again the Lake Division Headquarters have sent requests to them for the various sundries that go to make a soldier-boy comfortable, and never has the quota gone back turned them out on schedule time. We fancy many a boy who might be unfilled. Whether it be socks, shirts, sweaters or whatnot, the willing hands of our patriotic ladies have shivered in the cold mud of a European trench this winter had it not been for the sweater sent him, blessing the ladies of his homeland for their thoughts of him and motherly care.

The Red Cross is but a great demonstration of mother-love and the poor motherless boy whose life he is offering on the altar of liberty, will feel a glow of joyous pride to know that the maternal sympathies of American womanhood are with him, and especially will the local boys be pleased to know that the ladies of their home town are with them heart and soul. Such work as they are doing will be a benefit to them, a glorious pleasure to the boys at the front and boon to humanity. We do our hats to the ladies of the Hartford Red Cross Chapter.

TOBACCO HARD CROP?

Tobacco is generally considered by everyone who has raised it as a very hard crop and from our little farm experience, the setting out of the weed is about the hardest part of producing it.

However, if one can raise it as did Seth Payne, of Narrows, the hardest part of it can be eliminated. He has already topped, according to Willie P. Davison, of that section, two acres of the "long green" that was raised as snickers from last year's cutting, and Mr. Davison is of the opinion that the crop will be good, and if nothing happens Mr. Payne will get a good price for it.

GEORGE T. BROWN WINS FREE TRIP.

George T. Brown, son of Mr. J. T. Brown, of Rockport, Ky., was awarded the free trip to the State Fair in the Boy's Agricultural Club work in their competitive examination held here Saturday, August 17th. He will spend the week during the fair at Louisville in camp with the other boys of the state on the fair grounds. He will leave here Monday morning, September 9th, and spend the entire week as the guest of the state fair and the state Agricultural College.

THAN MAN'S SHOULDERS.

Mr. Willie P. Davison, of Narrows, was in town one day last week and reports an unusually fine crop of burley tobacco on the place of Joe Smith, near Olaton.

Mr. Davison says that Mr. Smith was cutting this crop last week, and that it was higher than a man's shoulders. It was too tall for Mr. Smith to cut at one time, so he cut the weed half way down the stalk in order that a man could hang it on sticks. It being so long that it was impossible for one to hold the stick high enough to hang it without the leaves dragging the ground.

The unusual length of the tobacco will cause Mr. Smith to have to cut over the ground twice, but we venture the assertion that he will be well repaid for his extra work.

TO OUR CORRESPONDENTS.

We appreciate your kindness in writing, but we will have to urge that you get your letters in early if you expect publication in the current issue. All communications from the county MUST be in the office by MONDAY NOON, to insure publication. Get them in Saturday if possible. If anything special happens write or phone it. We regret having to hold over each week so many good news-letters.

Mr. W. W. Harris, local manager of the Cumberland Telephone Co., has gone to Madisonville for a few days visit with his father-in-law.

WILL TEACH COUNTY'S MOONLIGHT SCHOOLS

Over Seventy Teachers Pledge To Help Stamp Out Illiteracy.

Among the many striking features of the Institute last week was the manifestation of the growing interest of the teachers in the campaign to remove the stigma of illiteracy from Ohio County. Quite an amount of time was devoted to a discussion of this work and many inspiring addresses were made, including a very excellent one by Mrs. Lucile Brogan Jones, superintendent of the Western division of the Moonlight schools. She especially emphasized the necessity of teaching soldiers and their families to read and write, so they might be able to carry on correspondence while the boys are in camp and after they have gone across.

Mrs. W. L. Mills, our local representative, was also present and worked energetically in interest of the teaching of illiterates. The teachers of the county were inspired by these workers, and realizing the necessity of ridding the county of illiteracy, a great number of them signed pledges to either teach a school or assist some neighbor in learning to read and write. The names of those who pledged are as follows: Mr. W. K. Hill, Simmons; Miss Neuliah Moore, Hartford, R. 6; Mr. F. L. Mason, Taylor Mine; Miss Alma Carter, McHenry, R. 1; Miss Anna Thomas, Rockport, pledged to assist or teach some one to read and write. The Moonlight schools will begin in Ohio County, Sept. 16th, and continue four evenings a week for six weeks. A contest is on between the eastern and western parts of the state and it is hoped Ohio county will help carry off the honors.

HARTFORD CITIZENS WORK THE STREET.

For a long time the street known as Frederica has been in a bad condition. In the summer the dust was so heavy that one treading up and down its sidewalks would almost succumb from strangulation, and in the winter the mud was so deep that the citizens of that section studiously avoided the middle of the street, lest they stumble into the quagmire and sink to rise no more. After making many frantic appeals for the street to be fixed up and getting no results, some of the leading citizens who dwell up that way decided to take matters into their own hands and alleviate the sufferings of their neighbors and themselves, and so accordingly last Thursday evening several of them assembled with spades, hoes and shovels and after a busy evening's work, the street was in as good condition as if a gang of professional road-workers had been upon it. Among those who participated in the enterprise were, Ex-sheriff, S.

D. Keown, Messrs. C. B. Carden, John Bell, C. E. Smith, J. C. Riley, and J. C. Bennett. After the evening working had been given the street, the ladies sprinkled the walks and roadway to allay the dust, and nightfall found Frederica street in almost as good condition as its illustrious namesake. The gentlemen are to be complimented upon their industry and good citizenship.

KICKED BY A HORSE.

Mr. Ed Cook, a prominent merchant of Dundee, was very seriously injured last Thursday when he was kicked by a horse which he was driving into his livery stable at Dundee. He had taken the horse to water and when Mr. Cook tried to drive him into the stable he became obstinate and refused to enter the door. Mr. Cook approached him to force him to enter when the horse kicked him, badly mauling one arm and injuring one leg. His clothes were torn into shreds and he narrowly escaped more serious injury. Mr. Cook was confined to his bed several days but is now able to be up again.

WOLD YOUR HORSES—ELEPHANTS ARE COMING!

The glories, grandest, glitteringest galaxy in the whole wide, wonderful world is trickling this way and will spread in scores of tents here on next Tuesday. One doesn't infer from this that reference is made to the Sparks Circus, the publicity man will regard the case as hopeless.

The familiar custom has always been to characterize each successive year's circus as "bigger and better than ever," but the phrase has become so hackneyed that, this year, the Sparks circus hesitates to use it, despite the fact that it adequately describes the entertainment. More railroad cars are required to transport the show. Bigger tents are used, more area is needed to accommodate the show than ever before. In fact, the circus has reached a point where it is the despite of many of the smaller railroads and taxes their facilities to the limit, for many double-length cars are needed to convey the gigantic canvas nomad from town to town.

The three-hour arctic performance, below and aloft, the circus assures, scores all comparisons and breaks all records of the past. Every one of the participants is a champion in equestrian, peripatetic, acrobatic, hippodromatic or gymnastic effort.

The exhibit of human freaks, eliminated a few years ago, has been restored to the joy of every arena lover. This parliament of peculiar and puzzling physical phenomena and marvels will be in continuous view.

MINER COMBATS SUICIDE.

Despondent because he was not permitted to accompany a number of miners on a trip to Washington, D. C., R. C. Vance, age 49, of Simmons, committed suicide at the Willard Hotel in Louisville last week. He shot himself through the head.

Vance had been working for the Broadway Coal Company and it seems he was engaged in litigation of some sort with them. He was in Louisville to confer about this matter at the time of his death. A note was found in his room, addressed to Dr. Willard Lake, of Simmons, which read: "Come and get me." He is survived by a wife. His body was brought back to Simmons and interred Thursday.

WAS NOT RACING.

In reply to a report that has been circulated and published that I was racing with Carlisle Oldham at the time of the tragic accident on the Beaver Dam pike, I will state, that it is absolutely a false report. In the car I was driving was an aged lady, Mrs. Dr. Taylor, also my sister and it was evident that I would not have driven recklessly with them; besides I was running on one spark plug, and had to get four when I reached Beaver Dam from Frank Caschler. Did you ever see a Ford that could race with one spark plug? I will further state that I did not know Mr. Oldham was on the road and knew nothing of the accident until I reached Beaver Dam. Such reports as the afore mentioned are injurious to a young man and should not be circulated.

GOEBEL, WILSON.

MUST RAISE ASSESSMENT.

The State Tax Commission has ordered a raise in assessment of real estate of at least twenty-five percent, on the State Tax Commission. Mr. J. H. Ward, land and personal property that was properly assessed last year must be raised to that amount and property that was not properly assessed, of course, higher in proportion. In other words, land in Ohio County must average $18.00, according to this law. So people may expect to find their land at a considerable increase. All lists must be given in before October 31.

HEAVY RAIN IN AFTER PART OF THE COUNTY.

The United, Manassas, Ashby section of the county was visited by a very heavy rain, almost a deluge, about Monday, so these farmers in that portion of the county expect the rain fell in torrents, and the water in many fields of corn set up in the ears on the stalks, and some low places fields of the grain were practically submerged. We have no report as to the extent of damage done.

FAMILY REUNION.

The children and grandchildren met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Bell, near Pleasant Ridge, Sunday, Aug. 25. All experienced a delightful day. Those present were: Purdy Caschler, wife and two sons, of Hartford; Mr. Gilbert Bell and wife; Mr. Carl Bell, wife and daughter, Edna Reed; Mr. Walker Bell, wife and little son, W. C., Mr. Iva Nell and Walter Mischke, all of Hartford.

The Maxwell!

Why Do You See So Many of These Cars in Ohio County--- Why Do They Prefer Them?

That's easy—they wanted everything that the ingenuity of man has invented---that science could develop, and an American accustomed to the best, could desire. They wanted comfort to the point of luxury in riding qualities.

"Claims are alright, but only profits count"—that is THE MAXWELL slogan. We have proven in official tests, and before the whole world, the most elusive but most important qualities—reliability and gasoline economy—and these two qualities you will find only in THE MAXWELL.

If you want to know what THE MAXWELL will do, ask your neighbor—he has one. If you are in the market for a car, let us demonstrate "a real automobile."

SUPPLICATION.

Grant Thou, O God, to give us peace From German shot and shell, And fortitude to bear the loss Of those we loved so well.

For Thee and all mankind we fight; Then in this hour of need, Grant thou to us the power and might To quell the German greed.

For gold and conquest they defy The laws of heaven and earth; They smite the hope—peace and good will, That came with Thy Son's birth.

No crime is 'neath their fiendish hearts, No blood they dare not shed; They look not to Mount Calvary's cross,

But to their Empire's head. Then grant, O God, a recompense; Smite Thou the German creed, And make the hope of peace on earth

Not born to die nor bleed.

Make Thou a peace, that Freedom's praise Unto the end of time Shall be immune from fear and dread Of war's barbaric crime.

Now grant, O God, that we may look Back to Mount Calvary's cross, And let the spirit of Thy Son Be not to men or dross.

Grant Thou, O God, a listening ear Unto this prayer, and then Our gratitude no bounds shall know Unending worlds—amen!

NATURE'S WARNING

Hartford People Must Recognize and Heed It.

Kidney ills come mysteriously. But nature generally warns you. Notice the kidney secretions. See if the color is unhealthy—If there are settlements and sediment. Pages, frequent, scanty, painful. It's time to fear serious kidney trouble.

It's time to use Doan's Kidney Pills.

Doan's have done great work in Hartford.

J. A. Baird, R. F. D. No. 5, Hartford, Ky., says: "I used only one box of Doan's Kidney Pills, but that was all I needed to cure me of kidney weakness. For some time I had been troubled by sharp twinges across my loins and other symptoms of kidney complaint. As I heard Doan's Kidney Pills being highly recommended, I got a supply and their use cured me. I highly recommend this remedy.

Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Baird had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y. Adv.

PROFITEERS BENEFITED

BY THE WAR IN 1917

Food Dealers, Clothing Manufacturers and Oil Men Have Fortunes Swollen.

Washington, D. C.—War profiteers in 1917 were more numerous in business devoted to food production and distribution, cotton and woolen manufacturing and dealing, coal mining, iron, copper, aluminum and other metal production and oil production and distribution, according to a Treasury analysis of income tax returns.

In addition thousands of small concerns in a great variety of industrial and commercial classifications made profits ranging from 100 to 3,000 per cent above their normal profits for pre-war years, which even then, were considered high.

Detailed information on the extent of war profiteering has been given Congress recently in compliance with a resolution requesting it, and the Federal Trade Commission is understood to have obtained considerable information from the income reports in preparation of its criticism of the meat packing industry.

Money in Contracts.

In citing certain industry or commerce classifications as containing the largest percentage of profiteers, the Treasury has made it clear that not all individual businesses in these groups have gathered in swollen earnings. This is true particularly of coal operators, some of whom made enormous profits, often several hundred per cent higher than good earnings of former years, while others made barely enough to pay justified dividends.

With few exceptions, manufacturers of clothing and shoes reported big profits. This was true of most concerns holding Government contracts, many of which were let early in the war when the Government felt compelled to stimulate production of the vast quantities of supplies needed by the army. Scores of income reports from suit, shirt, underclothing and shoe manufacturers showed earnings of from 20 to 100 per cent on invested capital.

Lumber production, stimulated by the sudden enormous demand from cantonments and other Government operations, netted forest and sawmill owners, as well as distributors, profits several times above those of normal years.

Oil Profits Enormous.

Oil producers made enormous profits, which they claimed were justified by the rapid depreciation of properties and the extra financial hazard of their business.

Despite high cost of labor and other factors entering into mining, the Treasury analysis shows that very few iron, copper or aluminum mines failed to make tremendous profits for their owners under the Government policy of stimulating production. Producers of silver, gold, platinum and other precious metals profited to a lesser extent.

Automobile and motor truck manufacturing was highly profitable, although income returns show that earnings of different plants were far from uniform, some making as high as 50 per cent on investments and others less than 10 per cent.

Food Dealers Get Theirs.

Meat packers, flour millers and canners apparently stood at the top of the list of food profit-takers, according to income returns. Farmers also made money heavily last year, but not enough of their returns have been analyzed to justify a general statement of their profits officials say.

Profiteering was by no means confined to big business interests. Small scale producers in thousands of cases reported profits equal to the aggregate of from five to ten years' earnings before the United States entered the war.

More than 300 clerks of the Internal Revenue Bureau have been employed in tabulating income returns for the last six weeks and transmitting these in weekly or bi-weekly installments to the Senate, where the reports now are being prepared for examination by the Senate Finance Committee in connection with its consideration of the new revenue bill.

Names of individual companies are not reported, since these by law must be considered confidential unless the President specifically authorizes publication of tax returns.

"Every time I come home from my vacation," said the beyond-the-draft man, "I have to build my faith in human nature."

"So you fall for the fairy-tales the resort-booklets print, too, do you?" asked the retired cynic, smiling.

MILLION LABORERS TO BE TRANSFERRED.

Washington, August 21.—Immediate transfer of nearly a million common laborers now in nonessential industries to war work was ordered Monday by the United States Employment Service to meet the requirements of the new army program. The shortage of unskilled war workers, now reported at a million men, would be increased by the new draft unless the radical steps ordered Monday overcome it.

"We have to be ruthless in the handling of labor distribution," said J. B. Densmore, Director General of the United States Employment Service. "The War Industries Board has been ruthless in withdrawing material from nonessential industries even to the closing of their doors. We have expected that this would release the necessary labor to the war industries. But we can consider now but one thing—the winning of this war. If it is necessary to step into a going concern and take from it all its workmen and transfer them to a war industry to win this war we will do it."

The United States Employment Service has requests for 1,000,000 men for common labor in war industries in excess of the men available.

Orders sent to the State Directors of the service Monday are absolute in their severity. Men are to be transferred in as great numbers as needed from nonessential industries to the war plants. The full million shortage will be moved in this way if necessary, but it is hoped that a voluntary reduction of forces by nonessential employers will relieve the crisis to a considerable extent.

The only limit on the authority given State Directors to transfer men from one industry to another is the provision that they shall not be taken from the farms, railroads, mines or other war industries.

"Instance after instance," said Nathan A. Smythe, Assistant Director General of Employment Service, "has come to our attention where the lack of unskilled labor threatens to cause some highly essential war producer to close down. As the army increases the situation will grow grave. The fact must be faced squarely and resolutely. There are plenty of men in the country to meet the present needs for unskilled labor, but they are now working at nonwar work. The time has come when America must get fully on a war basis."

"If we are not to leave our armies in the lurch for the lack of munitions and supplies every able-bodied man in the country will soon have to find work in some essential industry. Patriotic employers in nonwar industries should take immediate steps to reduce their forces of men to an absolute minimum."

"An aroused public sentiment, which will brand as a slacker any man who willfully refrains from working at some productive job up to the full extent of his capacity, will be more effective than any laws or regulations."

"What, perhaps, is most needed in our war industries is an infusion of men who will undertake to work as common laborers because of our country's need. Americans, like the English and the French, must learn that 'common labor' when performed for one's country in time of war, is worthy of any man, whatever his prior position or experience."

PRESIDENT'S APPEAL FOR LIBERTY LOAN.

Washington, Aug. 15.—President Wilson has written an autograph appeal on behalf of the fourth Liberty loan, to be published in full-page newspaper advertisements and shown on moving picture screens September 28, the opening day of the three weeks loan campaign. In announcing this today the Liberty loan publicity bureau also said arrangements had been made for the publication daily throughout the loan period of display advertisements in newspapers and magazines, consisting of special pleas written by prominent men, including Secretary Baker, General Pershing, Charles M. Schwab, Samuel Gompers and others.

MEN, 16 TO 56 MAY ENLIST.

Men up to 56 years old now may be accepted for service in the United States army, the Cincinnati army recruiting station Monday having received orders from the War Department to make enlistments for the quartermaster, signal and ordnance corps. Men of all qualifications, and occupations will be accepted. (Cincinnati Enquirer)

FLAG FIRST HAD

FIFTEEN STRIPES.

Most persons, if asked when the United States flag had more than 15 stripes, would answer promptly, "Never!" And if told that the Star-Spangled Banner that flew over Ft. Mifflin when Francis Scott Key wrote the national anthem had 15 stripes, they would scoff. For most of us have forgotten that after Vermont and Kentucky had been admitted as the fourteenth and fifteenth states, Congress, on May 1, 1795, enacted a law providing that the flag be 15 stripes.

The story of this almost forgotten change in the flag is told by Philip R. Dillon in "The United States Flag," just published. This fifteen-striped flag flew for 23 years, including the War of 1812, for it was not until March 4, 1818, that Congress enacted the law which fixes the form of the flag for all time as having 13 horizontal red and white stripes and a blue union to which one star is added for every new state that is admitted.

SAVE US FROM SUCH A FATE!

"If Germany should win this war there would be more new kings scattered over the earth than there are colonies in Kentucky."—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

Lord, save us from such a fate and let us strive to win the war, if the Kaiser appoints kings at the rate that our illustrious Governor, A. O. Stanley, appoints Colonels. Since our executive went into the mansion, we find some in almost every hamlet crowned with the famous title of the old Kentucky gentleman.

Don't judge a man's loyalty by his inability to sing the national anthem. Many a real patriot is tone-deaf!

Life is rather a dull proposition since the Institute closed and those pretty teachers have ceased coming in to see us.

Nearly a million become of age in America every year. Enough to whip all the Kaisers and leave all the old men here to hoe potatoes.

A great many people would be willing to serve out their army terms as Milton described. "They also serve who only stand and wait."

It is not everyone who says, "Lord, Lord" who worships God, nor is everyone who says, "I am patriotic" ready to back up his words with action.

There is a noticeable absence of German engineer regiments at the front according to reports. We suspect they are back at the Rhine building bridges for their army to retreat across.

The man who drifts from job to job while the national exigencies demand that labor be localized and organized, is just as much an ally of the Kaiser as the man who habitually refuses to work at all.

The anti-litter campaign in the County is running along smoothly indeed. With over seventy persons pledged to teach schools and individuals, private citizens taking a hearty hand and the people aroused to the necessity of these schools, it looks like hushness. The officials and teachers are behind this work and we believe that adults who cannot read and write will soon be few and far between in Ohio county.

The Hartford Republican seems greatly perturbed over the editors of The Herald having "preferred" classification. While we did not know there were any "preferred" classes, we will state that it is no flackery that puts us on the deferred list. Our senior editor is not even in the registration, being above the age, and if he was and desired to go he would present himself to the Local Board and waive his exemption. The local editor, who only recently became of military age, had previously volunteered five times and was rejected each time, the last time by a local physician, notwithstanding the fact that his profession places him beyond the pale of military service. If the editor of the Republican has ever offered his services in any manner, we have not heard of it.

If the new draft law passes, as it most assuredly will, the world is likely to be again presented with the strange paradox of mixed battalions of youth and age, wherein will be commingled the man of middle age and the boy just turned eighteen. Doubtless in many instances the father and son will stand side by side in the mud of the trenches or carry the same sized pack upon the long marches. Many men of middle age and past are as good or better physical specimens as their sons and it is very improbable that they will be given noncombatant duty or that they would want it. Thus the man of forty-five has an excellent chance of seeing service in France, not the trivial duties of a commissary storekeeper, but the active fighting service on the front.

Wars heretofore have been mostly boy's wars but this titanic struggle transcends all former bounds and sets new precedents, and among them will be the great universal army of the world's universal democracy.

We would not deign to shoulder the mantle of prophecy but we have our right to logical conclusions after studying present-day conditions and contemporary opinions. Some time ago we made the assertion that the pivotal center of battle would yet be in the Lorraine sector, near the Swiss border. We still contend that the decisive battle must and will be fought out here. The continued attempts of the Germans to decoy the Allies away from this sector is sufficient proof of their apprehension of its vital worth to them and the probability of an Allied attack there. There are many reasons on which we base our belief that this will yet be a final battleground. The topography of the country makes it extremely difficult for the Huns to move their heavy artillery, their chief weapon, at the same time making an ideal section for maneuvering and rifle work, at which the Americans are masters; then the population, which is mainly French, is hostile to the Germans; their line is weakly guarded and at that by territorialists. The Americans have taken positions sixteen miles within German territory and within a few miles of the Rhine, which would make it very easy for them to gain momentum and press on into the heart of Germany.

AN INFAMOUS LIE.

A straight down-right German manufactured lie, relative to the local exemption board, has been going the rounds in Ohio County for some time. We have come into contact with it a number of times and in various places and though it varies in its version, it is always essentially the same. The story is that a government man recently visited the Local Board and found so much evidence of graft that the members of the board and several prominent attorneys were immediately indicted. We heard this story first while away from Hartford on a short trip and it was told with such earnestness that we supposed that all this had happened the day before, and imagine our surprise when we returned and found the members of the board busily at work instead of in the penitentiary. After an interview and exhaustive investigation we have found this story to be absolutely untrue and criminal in its aim.

Regarding the visit of the secret service man, a government inspector did visit the board not long since but did not try to hide his identity. Instead of finding irregularities, he highly complimented the board for its efficient work and fairness. Most folks who peddle this sort of propaganda are sincere and honest, and really believe what they tell, while others do so out of a plain desire to gossip and to have something sensational to say. But whatever their motive, they should remember they are treading on dangerous ground and that every word of sedition spread is a word for Germany. Such gossip as this spreads like wildfire, and to patriotic citizens it both dangerous and offensive.

Be it resolved that we extend to the family our sincere and heartfelt sympathy in this their sad hour of bereavement. ### SUCCESSFUL INSTITUTE.

One of the most successful Institutes in the annals of Ohio County's educational history came to a close Friday. Dean Kinnomon, the instructor gave many instructive addresses as did also Prof. Craig. One of the noticeable features of the institute was the moonlight school work, conducted by Mrs. Luella Jones and Mrs. W. L. Mills. Among the many good addresses was one by Mr. A. D. Kirk, explaining the compulsory school law. The teachers presented the retired superintendent, Prof. Ozma Shults, with a beautiful clock. Prof. Bruner making the presentation speech. The professor, who had labored so long as a superintendent, received this gift with emotion and gratitude.

Superintendent E. S. Howard was present throughout and conducted the institute in a splendid manner. Teachers were present from every school in the county. The following are the names of the teachers and where they teach:

NO CALENDAR FOR 500 YEARS

Christians Reckoned Time According to Customs of Nations to Which They Belonged.

History tells us that for 500 years the Christians had no calendar of their own, but reckoned the years according to the customs of the nations to which they belonged. The Roman Christians used the "Anno Urbis Condite," or year of the founding of Rome, to count from; others counted from the reign of Diocletian, calling it "the Era of the Martyrs;" and still others used the calendar of the Copts of Egypt. In the sixth century Denis the Little, a Greek monk living in Rome, made a calendar counting from the Incarnation, the date of which he fixed at 753 A. U. C. So we commonly say that Rome was founded 753 B. C.

At the beginning of the eighth century the venerable Bede pointed out that this was an historical blunder. But no general notice was taken of his criticism and the error has continued to this day. Historic facts have enabled modern scholars to determine without much possibility of doubt, the exact year of the birth of Jesus, and to place it at what we call 5 B. C.

"It should be noted," says the great French astronomer, Camille Flammarion, "that the birth of the Savior remained totally unperceived at the time. No register of birth, no contemporary historian has bequeathed us any sacred parchment registering the event."

Moreover, although we are actually approaching the year 1923 A. D., there is little probability that our calendar will ever be reformed to show the fact. The confusion of dates that would result from a substitution of the more accurate designation would be too great to make such meticulousness worth while. —Cleveland Plain-Dealer.

FERRY ACROSS THE CHANNEL

Freight Cars Are Carried for the First Time in History From England to France.

For the first time in the history of railroading a train ferry has crossed the English channel from Newhaven, England, to Dieppe, France, carrying about fifty cars, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. Since early in the war thousands of British railway cars have been employed in France in transporting troops and supplies, but they have all been transferred to the continent by freighters. The inauguration of ferry service indicates that the difficulties created by very pronounced tides have been overcome at last to the mutual advantage of these two allies. At Dieppe the water level varies as much as 31 feet. To overcome this, short bridges, attached at one end to the dock and resting on large floats, are employed. During loading and unloading the ferry is chained to the boat and dock pier as well. The two smokestacks are located one at either side of the craft, leaving space for tracks down the center of the deck.

Clams by the Square Mile.

Any new source of food supply is important in these days, and the government fisheries bureau is greatly delighted at the discovery of the vast and hitherto unknown beds of clams off the coast of central Alaska, not far from Cordova. One bed is 60 miles long and from three to five miles wide.

The clams are quite different from those common in our Eastern markets. They are "razor clams"—a kind of bivalve that derives its name, appropriately descriptive, from its likeness in shape to a razor.

There's time for everything—except the retelling of your uninteresting troubles

Welworth

A $2.00 Blouse Special

The companion Blouse of Withmore with equally matchless values.

Just as the Withmor towers above all other Blouses at $1.00—so does the Withmor at $2.00.

The fact is that these celebrated blouses are both the product of the same money-saving plan—and the same modern efficient factory.

We could tell you of numerous reasons why these Blouses excel—but what interests most is that they do.

Just how greatly they excel is evident from their splendid wearing qualities.

We are eager to have every thrifty-minded woman in this community know of the remarkable values that are being offered in these Welworth and Worthmor Waists—quality just as high as always, and as yet, at no advance in price. Quantities are limited and no more of the same styles are obtainable.

PLENTY OF BABIES.

Baby bears, lions, leopards, tigers, camels and kangaroos romp in the menagerie of the Sparks circus, which will exhibit here on Tuesday, September 3rd. These wild young creatures provide one of the most fascinating exhibits of the great traveling zoo. Born last winter when the big amusement institution was stowed away for the winter, they display little or no savagery or treachery.

As a rule, lions breed freely in captivity. Five cubs are having their first circus experience. They are all handsome specimens, with sturdy, tawny little bodies, thick, heavy paws, straight tails and remarkably well-shaped heads. One of the mothers, Hypatia, refused to nurse her twins. A milk goat was substituted for three days and then an Irish setter dog finished the job satisfactorily. The baby's strength is in no way impaired.

The half dozen young leopards and tigers are not nearly so playful as the lion cubs. They are not so clearly marked as the adults, their spots are faint and their coloring is uniform and dull. They are the first among the animal kindergarten to show symptoms of hatred of mankind.

The baby camels are curious objects, appearing to be all legs, and very long legs, too. Their coats are as evenly as young lambs'. Their mother's love and keen devotion are pathetic.

Four infant kangaroos are the most timid among the circus newcomers. They, keep out of their mother's pouch, work their tiny, flexible mouths round and round as though striving for danger, drop their forepaws, jump from their shelter, give one or two hops, and their forepaws, jump from their pouch and hide away for a time. The mother utters a soft sigh—the only sound a kangaroo is able to make—as of relief as they disappear.

Men who have become 31 years of age since June 5 will register in this State August 24. All men who have become of age between June 5 and August 24 must register.

LOCAL POET SINGS OF HARTFORD POST-OFFICE.

That common scenes and familiar faces have an appeal and attraction is evidenced by a recent description of the Hartford post-office in verse. Not long since a lady sent Walter Greep, local editor of The Herald, a request to write a poem on "The Mail Sack." For some time he lacked inspiration to produce the "Master-piece," and consequently passed it by. But one evening, standing at the post-office, the mail being late; he watched the crowd gather and eagerly read their mail, and he caught the inspiration. He rushed back to his office and wrote the poem which recently appeared in the Louisville Courier Journal. It is purely local and our readers should be able to distinguish several prominent Hartford people who are portrayed in it. The poem is as follows:

THE OLD MAIL SACK.

(By Walter Greep.)

The villagers wait at the office door
While the postman sorts the mail;
Some sturdy and strong, and filled
With life,
Some tender and weak and frail.
But all with the question, "What of the war?
Do the Huns or the Allies win?"
And anxious hearts are throbbing low,
When the old mail sack comes in!
Here a father scans the bright headlines,
He is stately, handsome and tall,
And he smiles, though his heart has
A leaden weight,
For he's given his best and all;
His only son, somewhere out there
Is helping to make him free;
And the evening mail brings glorious news
Of American victory!

There, a mother stooped with weight
Of age;
What is that she received? See
The tears?
Is she weeping with sorrow or loving dreams
Of the child of her younger years?
A note from the boy "with the colors" she holds,
Buoyant with life—or perchance
An autograph letter from Pershing which reads,
"Your son—killed in action—in France."

A young wife awaits with anxious eyes
That taken long days of care,
A word from her husband, doing his bit
In the field or the trench over there.
A maiden is clasping with feverish hand
An envelope soft and white,
How her heart may quail with the awful news
Or thrill with a rapt delight!

Ah, old mail sack, what words you bear!
What messages fond and true;
Let the words be sad or the letters
gay,
It matters not to you.
You are filled with notes of warm heart's love
Or death's envelopes, cold and thin—
What hopes, what fears, what joys and tears,
When the old mail sack comes in!
Hartford, Ky.

ACCURACY IN CASUALTY RECORDS.

With the American Army in France, the recent Marine fighting has illustrated sharply the difficulties in prompt reporting of casualties. The army authorities keenly realize the anxiety prevailing at home since this first extended action largely participated in by the American forces, and the whole machinery of casualty reports has been worked to the limit within the basic rule of accuracy before speed.

The system of keeping track of every member of the American Expeditionary Forces is simply organized, but it is gigantic. It radiates from the central records office where is kept the complete history of every officer and man and civilian worker.

Facts concerning every casualty are rushed by courier to the Central Records Office, where a check is made against his name and record to prevent confusion and to identify him. Then a message is prepared and checked back and then cabled to Washington, where the next of kin is notified and the list published.

The work is done as expeditiously as possible, and were it not for battle conditions beyond human remedy the American people might read each day's roll of honor next day. In trench fighting and in small operations it is possible to make almost immediate casualty reports, but in warfare of movement, involving large numbers and extended territory such as the Marne battle, the task becomes difficult and slow, despite the

MINISTER'S DAUGHTER REJOICES OVER VIN HEPATICA.

Had Little Hope of Ever Getting Relief Until The Famous Vin Hepatica Prescription Was Recommended to Her—Takes It and Gets Well. Father Also Testifies.

Mrs. Roblin Jones, of Winchester, Tenn., daughter of the well-known evangelist, E. L. Cambren, says this regarding the wonderful relief she obtained from the use of Vin Hepatica:

"I had suffered almost all my life from stomach trouble. I could eat but few things without suffering agony. I had little hope of ever getting well. My food would sour, could scarcely rest any and was awfully nervous, but now I am rejoiced to say that I have at last found relief."

"I began taking Vin Hepatica about four weeks ago, and have gained several pounds. I eat lots of things I haven't been able to eat for years, and without experiencing any trouble afterwards. Vin Hepatica is a great medicine."

Right underneath her statement comes the following from her father, E. L. Cambren, the well-known evangelist:

"I think it strange," said he, "that we have not been able to find a medicine that would do the work Vin Hepatica has done. Our daughter's condition was something terrible. My wife and I were blaming ourselves, thinking we had wrecked her life by giving her so much strong medicine while she was a child. We now rejoice over the relief she has gotten from this wonderful Vin Hepatica prescription. She is an entirely different person, and we owe our thanks to her friend who induced her to try this wonderful remedy."

We invite you to come into our store, and try this great Vin Hepatica prescription on our recommendation.

Best efforts of the authorities. The regulations require that every report of killed, wounded or missing must be established beyond a doubt. Unis moving forward for hours under heavy fire, losing men on the way, cannot pause to check casualties. These must come later from dressing stations, hospitals or burying parties operating in the wake of the advancing lines.

Frequently company, battalion or even regimental records and reports are destroyed or lost in action. At Selcheprey a certain American unit was isolated for nearly two days by a heavy German barrage. Several members of the unit sacrificed their lives in an effort to penetrate the wall of fire. Finally a German raiding party captured and made off with the organization's records. On another occasion a statistical unit was bombed out of its position and its carefully prepared casualty reports were scattered over the landscape.

Again replacement troops may be thrown into action with some organization being reformed for attack, the unit commander having no knowledge of who they are. Thus, if the records are relost or destroyed by shell fire or bombing, it becomes almost impossible to make accurate casualty reports for days, perhaps for weeks.

American wounded often find their stations and are sent on to French or British hospitals. They are carried on their own rolls as missing until finally they find their way back to their own units or are officially reported at home as missing.

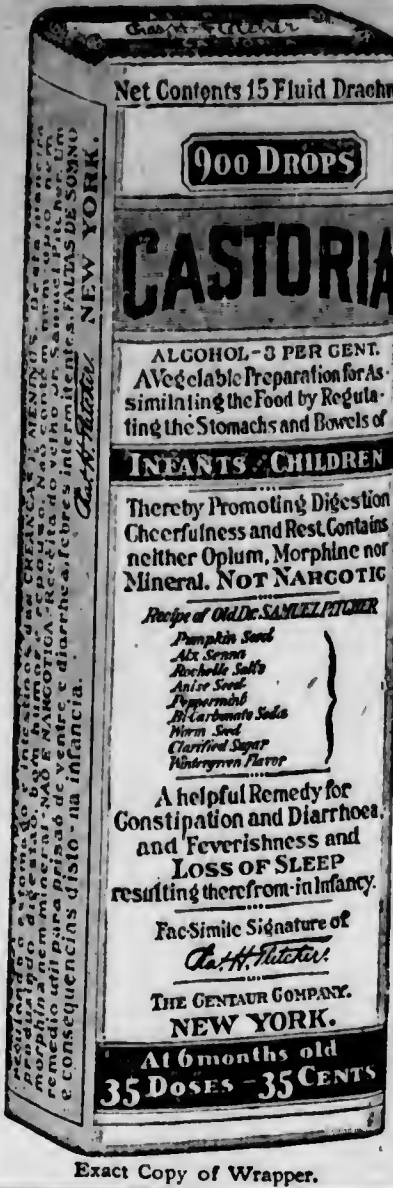

With the assistance of trained experts, the authorities constantly are endeavoring to speed up casualty reports. But they are unwilling to sacrifice accuracy, so that, as far as is possible, needless pain and anxiety to the family and friends may be avoided.

JUST AMERICAN.

Just today we chanced to meet—
Down upon the crowded street;
And I wondered whence he came
What was once his nation's name.

So I asked him, "Tell me true,
Are you Pole or Russian Jew,
English, Scotch, Italian, Russian,
Belgian, Spanish, Swiss, Moravian,
Dutch or Greek or Scandinavian."

Then he raised his head on high,
As he gave me this reply:
"What I was is naught to me,
In this land of Liberty.
In my soul as man to man,
I am just American."

REVERTED TO TYPE

Ferret's Night Off an Orgy of Slaughter.

Little Killer Left Thick Trail of Dead Which He Had Destroyed for the Pure Joy of Slaying, and Went Home.

His mother was a ferret, lean, yellow and pink eyed and a she devil to boot, says a writer in London Answers.

His father was worse, a wild polecat of the mountains, and a worse devil than ever.

But he, the cherub, was so soft and furry and fat and creamy, and though he had got pink eyes, there seemed to be nothing else of his mother and father about him. He never bit, he never spat, and he never used bad language, and he lived upon bread and milk, like a gentleman.

So he was till the spring broke. It was their own fault, the ferreters. They took him out rabbiting, as usual. They put a collar with a bell on round his neck, as usual, and a long, long string on the collar, as usual, and they turned him into a rabbit warren, as usual. And he sneezed three times, as usual, and he walked docilely down the first rabbit hole he came to, as usual, to turn out the rabbits from their burrows, as usual, that the sportsmen outside might shoot them as they bolted.

So far, until he got into the middle of the mazes of tunnels, the lanky darknesses, and the stuffy heat, full of the smell of castor oil—don't know why, by the way—and he could hear the drumming of rabbits' feet fleeing before his ghostly, terrible self, everything happened as usual. Then nothing did.

He was pulled up with a jerk that nearly choked him. He tried going forward, but it was all no good. He had only a yard of play either way. His line was entangled in a root.

The hours passed, and the ferreters, after trying every device known to man to get him out, gave it up and went home. The cherub did not give it up. He worried slowly, and he chafed, he pulled, and he tugged, and he sweated, and he sweated, and he finally his collar came undone or broke.

The cherub sneezed three times, and walked three yards. Then he realized he was free. It was the first time in all his life he had been free, and it acted upon him. In that second his mother, plus his father, got to work in his own body, and he began.

It was really very clean killing. Fifteen rabbits done to death, each with a single, clean fang stroke behind the ears—was not so bad for one small ferret. But he improved, for he slew 26 in the next hour—leaving every carcass untouched where it lay—and, getting thirsty, came above ground for water. The water he did not find, but discovered fowls in a fowlhouse instead, and, as I said, being thirsty, drank blood. There were no live fowls in that hen roost when he left. He visited the hutches of the Belgian hares, which he slew, and the pigeon cote, where he got more blood.

After that he returned a mile across country, killing three partridges on the way; drank at the dog's trough—biting the dog badly in the process—walked into his own hutch and was found curled up, calmly asleep, among the hay next morning.

Rabbit Meat for Wartime Food. Wartime conservation of beef and pork has enabled a Kansan to develop a rather extraordinary business in the marketing of wild rabbits, both Jacks and cottontails. A rabbit-packing plant has been established and is now shipping frozen lumbos by the tens of thousands.

A recent contract called for 480,000 pounds of jackrabbit meat. The Jacks average four pounds each when dressed. This means that approximately 120,000 rabbits were required to fill the order.

The fur is disposed of at a handsome profit. It is used in the manufacture of high-grade felt, such as cutters into the making of men's hats.

All waste products are converted into fertilizer. The industry also aids the country of a crop-destroying pest. —Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Teaching the Boys to Sing.

A distinguished young musician recently joined the English army for the purpose of teaching the boys to sing. Attached to the royal air force, he has been commissioned to train the men at the various centers in choral singing, thus dispensing with the necessity for bands. The effect upon the spirits, the morale and the discipline of the men has been excellent. They have developed a keen interest in singing, and many of them have been found, to their own surprise, to possess excellent voices. In view of the success of the movement, it will probably be extended to other branches of the army, especially where the formation of a band is out of the question.

Improves Revolver.

By providing the ordinary revolver with a circular cartridge frame or clip, Joseph H. Wesson of Springfield, Mass., has given the older weapon all the convenient features of the newer automatic weapon; that is, the rapidity of fire and quick reload. His clip, holding five or six cartridges in position, serves to push them into place in the revolver barrel at one operation, instead of individual loading, as is usually the case.

NO GRUMBLING AT PRIVATION

Britishers Willing to Subsist on Short Rations if That Will Help Win the War for Liberty.

It really isn't necessary to tell the British people not to waste food. There is nothing eatable left on the average plate when the meal is finished. Meals are one interminable round of fish and eggs, fish and eggs. Eggs are found disguised under all manner of names, but always there are eggs, not seven times a week, but almost 21 times a week, writes Chester M. Wright, member of the American Federation of Labor mission to England.

Meat is rationed by a card system. So is sugar, of which you may have six ounces a week and no more. One of the best hotels in London is serving butter or margarine only once daily. Many hotels have none for days at a time.

Desserts are a thing of the past, recorded in history but not among the things extant. Milk is rationed. Tea soon will be. Bread is rationed. Hotels will serve you with one brown roll per meal. The average man would be amazed at the British menu today, but the British do not grumble. They go on short rations knowing that it must be done, and accept it as part of the war that must be carried victoriously.

Even if it were possible to break the food restrictions the average Britisher has not the slightest desire to get more to eat than his neighbors. Especially among the British workers is there an obvious grim satisfaction when members of the American labor mission and speakers tell how ships are being rushed to completion in 26 states, and how self-denial by the British people in matters of food and luxuries make each ton of maximum value and effect in prosecuting the war to a finish.

The British workers realize that more than half their food comes from the United States.

"The less food the more troops," is the slogan which appeals especially to the Clyde ship builders, one of whom said: "If ships from the United States are laden as far as possible with soldiers and ammunition, then every bolt we drive is as good as a rifle shot against the Germans."

War of the Roses.

The war of the roses that never ends is a war to vanquish beauty with greater beauty. For long ages, since history began, this has been going on. Japan and India, Serbia and Persia cheered on contestants a dozen centuries before Damascus gave to the Crusaders the damask rose for occidental culture. "Decisions" have only temporary significance. For example, as Paris gave Venus the award of beauty, his namesake city gives southern California the gold medal, the prize of honor at the Bagatelle competition. But California must meet world competition in years to come and must maintain her form or get out of the running. Rose culture is a progressive art.

As for the Germans, we believe they were not represented at Bagatelle. That does not matter much. In this, as in their science, the Teutons are rather imitators than originators. True their Duchess de Mecklenburg, their Cornelia Koch, their Felenberg and particularly their Princess de Sagan, with its rich maroon and crimson loveliness, have attracted English attention. But these are all modifications of French types, as the Kronprinzessin Victoria is a modification of the Bourbon rose.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Somebody Must Have Told Him.

Jay McCord of exemption board No. 3 finds the young negroes of the district an inexhaustible source of delight. "They refer," he says, "quite rightly to their 'consecration papers.' One of them, whose patriotism was of the right kind, returned his questionnaire the other day. 'Well, George, do you waive exemption? I asked him. 'Oh, yussah, boss, yussah. Ah'll waive anything. Jes' give me a flag—a United States flag, if you got one—ah! Ah'll show you whether Ah kin wave it.'"

Another, says Mr. McCord, wrote in his questionnaire that his allowance to his wife was $100 a month.

"That's fair enough," I said. "Let's see—how much do you make?"

"Ten dollars a week, boss. Ah's a porter."

"Ten dollars a week, eh? Then you shoot craps."

The darkey's eyes bulged with surprise. "Huccum yo' know dat, boss," he gasped; "who done tol' you? Ah shoot craps?" —Chicago Tribune.

All France at War.

"If you want to see a whole nation in arms, go to France," says a hearty, good-looking United States soldier boy just back from the war front, and now in a hospital. "It's not just in the cities. It's in the little country towns. I've seen old women at work in the fields, women so feeble that they had to walk with a cane when they weren't working. I've seen an old French mother wheeling fertilizer up to the top of the hill. She had to do the work because her men folks were in the trenches. After every trip up hill she came tottering down, and you might have thought she couldn't wheel another load. She did, though. I tell you, the spirit of those French people is the wonder of this war."

Where He Stopped.

"Mr. Higgins speaks four or five languages," remarked Miss Cayenne. "Valuable accomplishment."

"It would be if he could think up something worth saying in any one of them."

MIDWAY AT STATE FAIR

The Midway of a fair is where the people play and the Midway of the 1915 Kentucky State Fair, to be held in Louisville the week of September 9-14, gives promise of being one of the most thoroughly delightful, amusing and diversified "Pathways of Pleasure" that State Fair crowds have ever attended. Guarantee of unalloyed enjoyment is offered in the fact that the street will be manned on either side by the great array of feature shows touring under the Johnny J. Jones banner. Every one posted in regard to Midway attractions is aware of the fact that there is no Midway organization in the country which can boast a better, cleaner or brighter line-up of fun-mediums than the Johnny J. Jones array, and the "Pike" of 1915 is, therefore, certain to be a much-sought section of the fair. Here the shows will present fronts of dazzling gold and myriad colors, topped by flags and banners and pennants and gay with the quips and quirks of the "barkers" and the many bands which distinguish the Jones' array. From the great wild animal exhibit which heads the list of twenty-two Jones shows to the village of Lilliputians, who demonstrate their cleverness by remarkable performances, the Jones shows are supreme in class and interest. It is the Jones policy to include everything any other Midway line-up can boast and to keep well in the van of the balance of the purveyors, and by this policy it is claimed that visitors to the Midway this year will be regaled with novelties and features never witnessed in a Midway before.

The Human Factors
In Good Service

There are three parties to every telephone conversation—the party calling, the trained operator, and the party who answers. All three share alike the responsibility for quick and accurate telephone service.

The calling party should give the correct number in a distinct voice, speaking directly into the transmitter, and wait at the telephone until the party answers or the operator reports. The called party should answer promptly.

Patience on the part of the telephone user and the telephone operator is also essential to good service.
